

To whomever it may concern,

I was notified by the Attourney General concerning the Established Business Relationship exemption the FCC is trying to impose. Speaking for myself and everyone I know, the implementation of this exemption would create unwanted daily hassle. Receiving ten telephone calls a day pressuring me to purchase something or sign up for a credit card forced me to purchase a caller ID as well as sign up for the state Do Not Call list. Please consider continuing to allow business institutions to contact us through the mail, and keep the disturbances out of our already busy lives.

Thank You,

Alison Denny
